Dear Ven. Zava Damdin Rinpoche,

For almost 10 years Gaden Relief Projects has raised money in Canada for the benefit of the Delgeruun Choira Monastery in Gobi Desert. Our donors have enabled us to send money to help build the monastery and help electrify it with solar power. We are very pleased with the progress of monastery over the years under your wise direction. The Gobi Monastery is very special to us and especially to our Spiritual Director, Zasep Rinpoche.

Gaden Relief Projects is a volunteer-run charity based in Canada with donors in Canada, United States and Australia. Under the guidance of Zasep Rinpoche our volunteers support Tibetans and Mongolians in greatest need. With the world economic downturn we find that donors are not able to contribute as they once were. In the past few years we have turned our attention increasingly to projects that are not getting support from other sources. The Gobi Monastery is receiving strong support from other sources and we feel that it can continue to thrive without our further help.

Gaden Relief Projects has decided to end its support of Delgeruun Choira Monastery at the start of the new year, January 1, 2013.

We are very fortunate to have this opportunity to help Delgeruun Choira Monastery, and to make a difference to the lives of Mongolians in Dundgobi Aimag. It has been an honour and a privilege to work with you. Although it is a sad moment for us to end our support, we will continue to take an interest in how the monastery is doing.

May all beings be happy.

Yours sincerely,

Conrad Richter
